In Sympathy With Rebellion

Democratic papers say a great deal about the restoration of the Union, and their desire to check the rebellion in what they call a constitutional manner But they are always peculiarly indefinite in defining their plans except that they are fearful always lest in some way slavery—the god of their infamous idolatry—shall be disturbed That the Democratic party as now organized, is entirely and thoroughly in sympathy with, and aiding the rebellion, we presume no one who has any sense doubts. Indeed the organs of Southern sentiment expressly declare this, and boast that they have friends in the North who will on every possible occasion relieve them from trouble when it threatens them See how gratefully the Richmond Enquirer recognizes the sympathy of the Democracy It is evident that there is a complete understanding between the two wings of the rebel army—the one in the field, and the other, out of it, under the lead of Vallandigham, Seymour and sundry other individuals whom we might name, but who are as accomplished traitors as the Generals of the rebel army Here is the quotation from the Richmond paper:

Should Gen Lee cross into Maryland the embarrasment of Lincoln would increase, his "victorious" army, unable to take the field and attempt the repetition of Sharpsburg and Gettysburg, would be compelled to remain in Washington, while General Lee marched wheresoever he wished in Maryland and Pennsylvania The success of the Democratic party would be no longer doubtful, should General Lee once more move on Meade — Parties in the United States are so nearly balanced that the least advantage thrown in favor of one will insure its success Should the Confederate army remain quiescent on the banks of the Rappahannock, the boastful braggadocia of Yankee reporters will be confirmed, and Lincoln and Halleck will point in triumph to the crippled condition of the Confederate army in confirmation of the great victory won in Pennsylvania. The Democrats unable to gainsay such evidence, will be able to enter the contest for the Speakership shorn of the principal part of their strength—the disgraceful management and conduct of the war. General Lee must turn politician as well as warrior, and we believe that he will prove the most successful politician the Confederacy ever produced. He may so move and direct his army as to produce political results, which, in their bearing upon this war, will prove more effectual than the bloodiest victories Let him drive Meade into Washington, and he will again raise the spirits of the Democrats, confirm their timid and give confidence to their wavering He will embolden the peace party should he again cross the Potomac, for he will show the people of Pennsylvania how little security they have from Lincoln for the protection of their homes It matters not whether the advance be made for purposes of permanent occupation, or simply for a grand raid, it will demonstrate that, in the third year of the war, they are so far from the subjugation of the Confederate States that the defence of Maryland and Pennsylvania has not been secured A fall campaign into Pennsylvania, with the hands of our soldiers united, not for indiscriminate plunder—demoralizing and undisciplining the army—but a campaign for a systematic and organized retaliation and punishment, would arouse the popular mind to the uncertainty and insecurity of Pennsylvania This would react upon the Representatives in Congress, strengthening the Democrats, and mollifying even to the hard shell of fanaticism itself.

"Gone Stark Mad"—While we were congratulating a portion of the Southern people on a return to their senses, the Mobile News goes off in the following indignant strain. It declares all who take the oath "have gone stark mad," and then comforts itself by elegantly denouncing them as "bastard Southerners" Here is the paragraph, it is a gem in its way

We have a multitude of reports horribly detrimental to the character of the patriotism of the people in many places in Alabama and Mississippi, some of them too disgraceful to publish Some of our people have gone stark mad They are bastard Southerners and recreant Confederates.

A Brave Man's Answer —Gen Butler in a speech he made while stopping over night in New Hampshire on his way to the White Mountains, was now and then interrupted by copperheads

In two years we have seen three quarters of a million of men raised Before the sentence was completed, one of the Pierce democrats asked in a sneering air, "Where are they now?" "Some of them," replied Gen Butler, with his customary promptness, "lie sleeping beneath the sod, and others are still fighting the battles of their country, while you remain here at home aiding the cause of traitors."

In another portion of his speech Gen Butler said:

"Will you volunteer?" a voice replied "No!" "You voted for Breckinridge," said a voice to Gen Butler, alluding to the last Democratic National Convention "Yes," said Butler, "and if I were so cowardly as you, I might be tempted to deny it" He then went on to show to these New Hampshire partisans that one might very properly vote for a man under certain circumstances and oppose that man under certain other circumstances. When Judas Iscariot was a true follower of his Master, he was no doubt a worthy example to be followed, but he was not aware that a man to preserve his consistency must continue to follow Judas after he betrayed his Lord

Murder and Robbery —The all absorbing topic of conversation yesterday was the murder and robbery somewhere [illegible] Beaver Head to Lewiston [illegible] search failed to elicit anything like a detailed statement of the circumstances attending the murder and robbery, and hence we are compelled to give such information as we have On Monday night of last week four well known individuals arrived at Lewiston and registered their names as Smith Brown, &c [illegible] engaged seats in [illegible] when [illegible] stage In the morning as Mr Beachy [illegible] agent was checking off the name of passengers he noticed these persons answering to assumed names but gave the matter no special attention Shortly after the stage had started down on Tuesday morning Mr Beachy's hostler handed him a note which had been left at the stable It purported to be from Messrs Smith, Brown & Co and stated that during his absence they had left five animals at the stable which they desired should be taken care of until their return Suspecting something wrong, Mr B went around to examine the animals, and immediately recognized one of the horses as belonging to Lloyd Magruder, also a mule, the property of the same gentleman With the horse was also the saddle and canteens of Mr M, the former stained with blood On the return of the stage driver to Lewiston he remarked that four of his passengers—the men who had given fictitious names at the Luna House—had a large amount of dust with them Following this, a number of men came in from the Beaver Head country and almost immediately enquired for Magruder, and expressed great surprise that he had not been heard from having had two days start of them Following this, a report reached Lewiston, that two bodies had been found on the road—one of them supposed to be that of Charley Allen, the packer—in a condition to indicate that they had been murdered All these circumstances taken together, it was deemed proper to pursue the men who had passed through Lewiston so mysteriously Armed with a requisition Capt Ankeny, Hill Beachy, and Tom Pike started in pursuit At Walla Walla, they found that the fugitives had again changed their names, and so on, down to the Dalles

Capt Ankeny and party got in here at a late hour on Saturday night, to find that the birds had flown On inquiry, it was ascertained that the whole four reached Dalles by the cars on Thursday night Three of them put up at the Globe Hotel, where they gave the names of John Jacquitt and Allen Brown the third one refusing to give his name, These three had with them from twenty five to thirty pounds of dust which they placed in the hands of the book keeper They went down by Friday morning's boat The fourth one of the party, named Doc Howard put up at the Umatilla, and remained over until Saturday morning when he went below During his stay here he exhibited a number of specimens which he offered as presents to friends and boasted that he had forty pounds in dust In conversation with an acquaintance he stated that he and his party had had a difficulty up the country, and had killed three men in a quarrel about a claim This was on Thursday night On Friday he was about town all day, and Saturday he went down on the boat

The real names of the parties who stopped at the Globe Hotel were James R [illegible] Lowery and Page, all three of them well known at the Dalles These, together with Howard, are supposed to be the murderers They gave out that their intention was to go to Victoria, but more than likely they took passage on the steamer which left Portland on Sunday morning, direct for San Francisco It was the intention of Capt Ankeny and his party to pursue them until found, it matters not at what cost For obvious reasons the pursuing party, whilst here, were averse to giving any information and hence our narrative of the affair is imperfect As near as can be ascertained they had killed and robbed three men. Their first victim was Lloyd Magruder, who had been to the Beaver Head country with a large stock of desirable goods which he had disposed of for cash They left the Beaver Head country in his company and are supposed to have killed him on the way. Subsequently they are supposed to have overtaken Charley Allen and Julius Newburg, who were on their way in from Warren's diggings, and murdered them From the proceeds of their three murders they are thought to have realized from $40 000 to $50 000 in dust, and with this they are endeavoring to make their way out of the country The above are all the facts we have been able to glean after diligent search Possibly to day may throw further light upon this mysterious affair —Mountaineer

Politics in the Pulpit —The New York Post of September 22d, says

A remarkable sermon on the subject "Politics in the pulpit," was delivered on Sunday evening by Rev Dr Harkness, to his congregation, the Scotch Presbyterian church, Jersey City The Doctor maintained that the religious and political duties of men could not be separated, that the prophecies and the teachings of the Bible were largely political in the sense in which politics constituted the science of just government, and he denounced in unsparing terms the "infidel cry—no politics in the pulpit," which he interpreted to mean that dishonest and wicked men should manage in their own way the affairs of communities and of nations This cry had been echoed until the ministry were overawed and absolutely feared to perform the manifest duties of their holy office lest they should touch upon the crimes committed in the service of party, which was a struggle for power and spoils

The doctor exposed the wickedness of the secession scheme, by which men were seeking through the shedding of a deluge of blood to subvert free institutions, to bind tighter the manacles of slaves, and to establish a government on the corner-stone of the "sum of all villainies" He condemned the sympathizers with secession, and referred to the detestable conduct of the Woods, Brookses, Seymours and Vallandighams whom he named, and who were doing the work of Jeff Davis The address was an impassioned and eloquent appeal to Christian men to perform the political and Christian duty of upholding the righteous government of the country, and was also a strong argument against the turning over of governmental affairs to the management of unprincipled men, who in the name of politics, were working for their own individual gain and the subversion of the interests of society.

Marvelous Phenomenon —Before the draft took place it was claimed by disloyal papers that all the Democrats had gone to the war Since the draft took place, it is said by disloyal newspapers that none but the Democrats were drafted!! These papers are evidently displeased about something

When the war broke out in 1861 it was common for the Democrats to allege that nine tenths of the troops were Democrats The same men are now opposed to allowing the soldiers of the army to cast their votes They must see that in the hearts of their best friends there has been a marvelous conversion

SPECIAL DISPATCHES TO THE DAILY OREGONIAN

LATER FROM THE EAST.

Dates to October 22.

New York Oct 22d —Special dispatches from Washington say that in the engagement on Monday Gen Custer reports that the rebel cavalry were driven by and Buckland's mills from Carnsville where our cavalry encountered rebel cavalry and artillery in line of battle They [illegible] one mile At one time Davis brigade of cavalry and artillery were cut off completely He got well out of the difficulty however

Richmond papers of the 17th have the following Citizens of Culpepper say that Meade during his occupation of that place used daily 100 000 rations Advices from the Army of the Potomac says that the right of our cavalry advanced to within three miles of Warrenton, and the left column is as far as Greenwichville

News from Burnside state that Gen Shackelford with cavalry has driven the rebels entirely out of Tennessee and captured the fort at Zollicoffer and burned the long rail road bridge beyond that place and five other bridges They destroyed five locomotives and [illegible] cars His advance is now 10 miles beyond Bristow [illegible] at Blue Springs and in the pursuit was about 100 killed and wounded [illegible] the rebels was considerably greater and 150 prisoners were taken There are no new developments [illegible] We are holding the country down to Hiwassee

The United States steamer Bienville brings important intelligence from New Orleans The grand expedition under Gen Banks had effected a landing at Point Isabel with the corps under Franklin The successful occupation of Point Isabel will give us in a short time possession of Brownsville A large portion of the Confederate cotton which had been sent to Europe to purchase supplies went through Brownsville to the anglo rebel blockade runners lying on the Mexican side of the river Another corps is co operating from the direction of the Red river country

A committee of wealthy slave owners called on the President yesterday to protest against sending negro soldiers into St Marys county, Maryland, to enlist slaves from off plantations Mr Lincoln replied that so far as sending them was concerned the orders might be modified and white soldiers sent, but so far as negroes were concerned, the Government must have all the slaves in Maryland and the border States for military purposes.

Among the camp rumors, bearing a semblance of truth, are the following That Lee's headquarters are now at Culpepper, that Ewell's and Hill's corps are between Culpepper and Warrenton, that Lee is greatly dissatisfied with his failure to occupy Centreville and Bull Run battle field before Meade could march his troops, and send his supplies back to that point that Lee intended not only to fight him at Centreville, but proposed to take up his winter quarters there

New York Oct 22 —The Creole from Havana the 13th and Vera Cruz the 1st inst has arrived There is no news, however Gen Forey had not arrived, and it was rumored that he had died of yellow fever

Additional Eastern News

Washington Oct 20th —The Government has official advices from General Burnside in regard to his marches and victories in East Tennessee and Southwestern Virginia. They are satisfactory in showing that in almost every case the rebels have been whipped and routed Burnside declared there is not a more loyal people living than those found in East Tennessee

The Richmond Sentinel of Oct 13th says We understand that in consequence of the action of the British Consuls in regard to the foreigners enlisted in the Confederate service the President has felt it his duty to dismiss all of them from the Confederacy

The Richmond Examiner has the following The Government is establishing in every town an agency for the sale of cotton to pay the interest on the coupon bonds The same paper also advocates the impressment of all the negroes in the Confederacy as teamsters etc

New York Oct. 20 —The Post's Washington letter says Military circles speak of an early repeal of the $300 clause of the Enrollment Act This will be urged in December, and it is not improbable that in the next draft exemption by money will be impossible Some advocate a new law fixing the exemption at $600 others suggest $1 500 and a provision that the drafted men who go to the army shall receive the money so raised in their districts

St Louis, Oct 20 —Gen Schofield has issued an order placing Gen McNeil in command of the District of the Frontier vice Gen Blunt, who is ordered to report at Leavenworth Gen Ewing's district is extended so as to embrace the entire State of Kansas

Louisville, Oct 20 —Maj Gen Grant has assumed command of the armies of the Ohio and the Cumberland. He left for Nashville this morning to assume the direction of affairs at Chattanooga Gen Thomas takes command of Rosecrans army—Rosecrans being ordered to Cincinnati and to report by letter to the Adjutant General at Washington

Philadelphia Oct. 20 —Sales of five twenties to day, $2,164,000 The foreign demand is steadily increasing

Yreka, Cal, Oct 23, 1863.

Editor Oregonian Owing to some cause, probably the aged and decrepid condition of that portion of the line, the wire has been broken between the head of Scott Valley and Weaverville five or six times within the past seven or eight days It is down in that vicinity to day The Company intend rebuilding that portion of the line immediately, the division superintendent and a number of hands will commence the work on the first of next week

In consequence of the slight pull back referred to above, I am unable to give you any State figures in regard to the Judiciary election which took place in this State on the 21st inst, but, if we may judge of what is to be from what has been, we will probably be not much out of the way if we say the State has gone Republican to the matter of 30,000 or 40,000 majority In this county, however that style of reasoning will not produce a similar result Rosborough, Democratic candidate for County Judge the present incumbent of that office and one of our first citizens has been re-elected by a majority of from 60 to 80 Judge Daingerfield, Democratic candidate for Judge 9th Judicial District carried the county by about the same majority The vote of other portions of the District will however elect the Republican candidate for that office The Republican State ticket will have a majority in this county of perhaps one hundred

Wells, Fargo & Co's New Express Office.—The Express and Banking Business of Wells, Fargo & Company in this city will henceforth be transacted in their new office in Cree's fire proof block, corner of First and Stark streets, whither they removed yesterday and open this morning The apartments are so admirably arranged for the convenience of the different departments of their extensive business, as to warrant a brief description Their rooms occupy twenty five feet on First, and twenty five on Stark street, and are divided into a banking letter and general express room, a baggage room, and private apartments for those who remain constantly about the office The first named is a neatly finished and conveniently arranged place [illegible] feet, with the banking department on the left hand side, entering from First street, and the counter in this department is the entrance to their treasure vault, which is very near the size of a "Pacific coast bed room," finished with all the modern improvements of iron and chill tempered metal surfaces [illegible] portion of the vault was made and put together for trial in San Francisco, and subsequently taken apart, marked and numbered, transported hither and set up, lined, inter[ior] and covered with cement and brick, and neither fire nor thieves can successfully operate to its injury To make "assurance doubly sure," within this vault is a superior safe, burglar and powder proof, so that it would be impossible for a piece of paper to be injured by external causes when the doors were shut. The letter department is on the [illegible] hand, entering from Stark street, and is peculiarly adapted to facilitate the distribution and delivery of express matter Beyond this, with an additional entrance from Stark street, is the baggage and parcel room, with shelves so disposed as to enable the employees to put their hands upon any required [illegible] without loss of time By the side of the freight room are the private apartments of those who add their night vigils to the safety of the concern The wood work is principally of selected material, and varnished The [illegible] of those representatives of the Company who have directed the arrangements to their completion, we have heard highly and deservedly complimented by many The Assay office attached to the Company's business is continued at their old place on Front street, for want of room in the new office.

Enrollment.—We are informed by the Deputy Provost Marshal, that the enrollment under the Conscription Act, is progressing smoothly and rapidly, and will be completed in a few days.

Good Time —The stage arrived at half past [illegible] last evening, with the Overland Mail—being near twelve hours on schedule time This speaks well for driver, team and roads

Theatrical —The "Willow Copse" was [produced] before a large and delighted audience last evening To-night is the benefit of the [respec]ted and worthy Manager, Mr George B. Waldron, who will appear as Sir Harcourt Courtley, with Mrs Julia Dean Hayne as Lady Gay Spanker, in the charming play of London Assurance. We bespeak for the [illegible] a bumper

Portland, October 26, 1863.

[Editor Oregonian]:

When the tax gatherer calls upon us, we are apt to think only about the amount to be paid, and not consider the object of the tax If the amount is larger than we expected, we are sometimes inclined to explode a little, more or less, according to the state of our [illegible], on the collectors head, to all of which the collector replies, and assures us, like "Oliver," that he did not do it Instead of this we should direct our thoughts more to public matters, and fairly consider what things are necessary for the public good, and [their] cost We should think that the money [is] collected equally from us, according to each one's amount of this world's goods, to be paid out again for the benefit of all, by and through the agency of the select number of citizens who toil and labor weekly, considering what is best for our interests as a community, and how to provide for them If we would all think thus, we would pay so much the more cheerfully, and the collector's face would brighten, his task would be so easy done But men's thoughts you know when once turned in the proper channel are sure to become more and more inquisitive and they will not be satisfied with so general a view of public affairs, and they will not be satisfied to leave all further considerations of public matters to the select men Their thoughts will wander to the objects themselves for which their money is to be spent What are they—are they necessary, and what will be the cost, and accordingly as they meet with favor or disfavor, so will their countenances be pleasant or clouded

Our citizens no doubt are turning their minds very much about this time to the public affairs of the city for the collector is around and they will want to know what are the objects for which they are to supply the public treasury from out their private store

It has been ordained and regarded by the select men that the people shall pay one hundredth part of all that each one has gathered together into the city treasury, and why? let [us] see, let all see

The tax of one per cent will produce as we [learn] by the amount stated in the special ordinance taxing the people five mills on the dollar, the sum of $37,000 and the revenue from licenses, I am creditably informed exceeds $10 000, which added together is $47, [000] about $12 00 5 each for every man, woman and child in town What is to be done with all this money? I can estimate the following

The collecting and disbursing of the revenue eight per cent	$3 760
Expenses of Fire Department	2,600
Salaries of Officers	2 000
Rent and contingent expenses	1 000
Gas lights (if we have any) for nine months,	1 800
Public squares and streets as per special ordinance,	16 000
Amounting to	$28 560

At the beginning of the year there was in the city treasury, as per Mayor's message, dated April 16, 1863, the sum of $4,000, which deducted from the above leaves $24,-560 to provide for and deducting this from the revenue of $47,000, and there remains the balance of $22,440 And what is to be done with that?

There seems a speciality about that $10 000 behind the general term streets for indeed the select men must have concluded to improve certain special places or certain parts of streets to have made out the estimated cost thereof so exactly but they have forgotten to name them specially in the order, and the people are very clamorous to know where the favored localities are The people did not pay the Council to pass this law nor have they in any manner frustrated their designs (provided they ever had any) for the improvement of streets The Council gave notice last July that they proposed the improvement of Front and First streets at the property holders' expense and the property holders said amen The owners of property on Jefferson street prayed the Council to grant them the privilege to improve it at their own expense, and they granted it, at last What further expression from the people is required? Property owners are ready to build streets and don't want to be taxed any $10 000 for such purposes sub rosa If the Common Council would make provision so that streets can be improved with some uniformity, as they proposed to do last summer, property owners would strive to do something to regenerate the appearance of our streets for the better But I doubt if any are disposed to pay for specialities, not known or stated and the result will be nobody will invest each way thinking a part of the $10,000 is for him specially So the streets go up or down for this seas n

Who Set the Ball of Rebellion in Motion.—In the 1830 a young lawyer, who was attending Court at Colleton, South Carolina, drew up a string of resolutions denouncing the Federal Government, and embodied the remedy for these usurpations in what were subsequently known as the Carolina doctrines. The resolutions were submitted to the people of Beaufort and Colleton districts, were adopted by them, and sent to the Senate of the United States, where they were denounced by Webster in his celebrated debate with Hayne on the Foote resolutions. The young lawyer who drew up these resolutions and put the ball of revolution in motion was Robert Barnwell Rhett.

In 1831 the nullification controversy took place. Calhoun had resigned the Vice-Presidency, and going into the Senate, became one of the most eminent of the champions of State rights. At that time Yancey was a boy, but he was old enough to take sides, and did so by joining the old Union party. H made a statement to this effect in the House of Representatives during the sessions of 1844 or 1845, in reply to Levin, of Pennsylvania, who had accused him of being a nullifier. We can readily account for Yancey's political opinions at that period from the fact that his father, who removed to Charleston for the purpose of practicing law in partnership with Judge Daniel Elliott Huger, died in a short time of yellow fever, having transmitted to his sons a high regard for Judge Huger. In the nullification controversy, Judge Huger was a violent adherent and leader, along with Joel R. Poinsett, James L. Petigru and Judge Thomas Lee, of the Union party, or submission party, as it was then called. At the time of Yancey's election to Congress, in 1841 or 1844, he was a zealous, ardent, active and able member of the Democratic party. In a little time, however, he threw off party trammels, and became the bold and defiant champion of Southern rights; but he was not regarded as the leader of that party.

But if Rhett gave the first impulse to the revolution, and Yancey was its most eloquent champion, it was to John C. Calhoun that we are indebted for the accession of the South from the Union. From the first hour of his entrance into the Senate of the United States, in 1832, down to the period of his death, in 1850, Calhoun was the firm, unyielding, and ablest advocate of the rights of the States which the South ever had. It is to Calhoun that the chief merit is due for the independence of the South. He did more to accomplish this result than any man, than any five thousand men in the Confederacy. We deem it, therefore, a matter of simple justice that, in speaking of the superb man who inaugurated the present revolution, the name of John C. Calhoun should be placed first on the bright roll of honor.—Montgomery, Alabama, Mail.

The Negro—Will he Make a Soldier?—There has been much discussion on this subject recently, in all of which past history and experience have been totally ignored. The negro of the United States is not sui generis; he is of common stock with the negroes of the west coast of Africa, who are found in all the English, Spanish, Portuguese, French, Dutch, and Danish colonies of America, and the Islands of the Carribean. Negro soldiers are no new thing under the sun. Nearly all the nations we have mentioned have for many years employed negro soldiers; and under European officers they have proved effective in proportion to the degree of advancement attained by their respective officers; those under English and French command, always exhibiting a great superiority over those under inferior drill. This is, of course, a fact that applies to all armies, or all men organized by drilling, etc., for grand army movements. It is also familiar to all veteran officers that any man of sound health, capable of comprehending the simple directions of his sergeant, no matter what his origin and antecedents, can be made an efficient soldier, and that masses of them make effective regiments, brigades and divisions, and properly maneuvered will seldom fail to do good service. Underlying the general amiability and forbearance which is the great characteristic of the race, the African possesses fierceness which, when aroused, despises consequences, seeks only its revenge, and is most terrible to behold. Raw troops cannot be depended upon for steady fighting, and in cases too numerous to mention they have thrown down their arms and shown their backs to their enemies. Our own history is full of instances in which the "militia" have fled at the first fire, and by their panic defeated the best laid schemes of their own officers far more effectively than the enemy could have done it. But it is well known that these same men, when brought under a severe and effective discipline are soon enrolled amongst the veterans. Now, these circumstances, surroundings and teachings apply with equal force to the negro of America. Properly trained, he is a brave and capable soldier.

The combined declaration of many excellent officers in all parts of the country, who are organizing negro corps, testify to the soundness of our remarks. If white jealousy can be sufficiently subdued to do justice to this immense material at our control, there is no reason why—within a reasonable time—we may not have great Africo-American armies, subject and obedient to military law, and effective for the restoration of that peace which is the earnest desire of all.—S. F. Journal.

Curious Calculations.—The simple interest of one cent, at 6 per cent. per annum from the commencement of the Christian era to the present year, 1863, would be but the trifling sum of 11 dollars 1 cent 8 mills; but if the same principle, at the same rate and time, had been allowed to accumulate at compound interest, it would require the enormous number of 82,840 billions of globes of solid gold, each equal to the earth in magnitude, to pay the interest; and if the sum were equally divided among the inhabitants of the earth—now estimated to be one thousand millions—every man, woman and child would receive 84,840 golden worlds for an inheritance. Were all these placed side by side in a direct line, it would take lightning itself, that can girdle the earth in the wink of an eye, 73,000 years to travel from end to end. And if a parrot gun were discharged at one extremity while a man was stationed at the other—light traveling 192,000 miles in a second, the initial velocity of a cannon ball being about 1,500 feet per second, and in this case supposed to continue at the same rate, and sound moving through the atmosphere 1,120 feet in a second—he would see the flash after waiting 110,000 years, the ball would reach him in 74,000,000,000 of years; but he would not hear the report till the end of one thousand million of centuries. Again, if all these masses of gold were fused into one prodigious ball, having the sun for its centre, it would reach out into space in all directions, one thousand seven hundred and thirty-two millions of miles, almost reaching the orbit of Herschel or Uranus; and if the interest were continued till the end of the present century, it would entirely fill up the solar system, and even encroach five hundred millions of miles on the domains of the void beyond the planet Neptune, whose orbit, at the distance of two thousand eight hundred and fifty million miles from the sun, encircles our whole system of worlds.

The Thing to be Done.—From the booming of the first gun upon Sumter to the present hour, there has been but one thing to be done, and that was, "Put down the rebellion by military force, and let the Union restored itself." There is no negotiating needed, no conciliation, no conservatism; the more radical the more thorough, the more summary and speedy the crushing out, the better. The disease is radical; and none but radical means will cure it. Let the rebellion and the rebels be put down, and the long crushed Union men be elevated to power and restore to the Union as the people of the South. Hitherto the three hundred thousand slaveholders have been considered "the people of the South;" now let the great mass of the free men of the slave States come up and take their rank and true position; let them henceforth be the people of the South, and shape the destiny of that country.—Indianapolis Evening Gazette.

If negroes are as good as white people, why did not the Creator make them alike?—Ohio Crisis.

We don't think that negroes are as good as white people; but if women are as good as men why didn't the Creator make them alike?—Louisville Journal.

It is said that because the Empress Eugenie, Queen of Fashion, as she advances in age, is showing a tendency to fullness, stoutness is becoming the fashion among the ladies of Paris. Well, if Eugenie can banish stove pipe waists she will do a good thing.

"Good morning, Mr. Hempel, have you any daughters that would make good type-setters?" "Not exactly, but I have a wife that would make a first rate devil!"

Pro Bono Publico!
IF YOU LOVE YOUR COUNTRY, encourage Home Productions. Why will you send abroad for wretchedly spurious articles, when you can have the good and true and beautiful of Oregon material and Oregon workmanship close at your very doors!
Why impoverish your country and its mechanics by the calculations of Prejudice, or by parsimonious misdirection?

HORATIO COOKE & CO.,
Corner of Alder and Second sts., Portland,
Have now on hand and are steadily constantly increasing a Large Stock of

The life-spring of trade, "READY CASH,"
No matter in which way we view it,
Enables us onward to dash,
And therefore we mean to stick to it.

Billiard and Ten Pin Balls turned to the most exact spherical conformation.
Various kinds of turning executed with the beauty of true taste, and to the truth of true order.
Lots fenced in with strength and beauty.

FOR DISEASES OF THE
BLADDER, KIDNEYS, GRAVEL
AND DROPSICAL SWELLINGS.
This Medicine increases the power of DIGESTION and excites the ABSORBENTS into healthy action, by which the WATERY or CALCEROUS depositions, and all UNNATURAL ENLARGEMENTS are reduced, as well as PAIN and INFLAMMATION, and is good for MEN, WOMEN OR CHILDREN.

HELMBOLD'S EXTRACT BUCHU
For Weakness arising from Excesses, Habits of Dissipation, Early Indiscretion or Abuse, ATTENDED WITH THE FOLLOWING SYMPTOMS:

Indisposition to Exertion,	Loss of Power,

Universal Lassitude of the	Muscular System,

Impotency, Fatuity, Epileptic Fits,
IN ONE OF WHICH THE PATIENT MAY EXPIRE.
Who can say that they are not frequently followed by those "direful diseases,"
"INSANITY AND CONSUMPTION,"
Many are aware of the cause of their suffering, BUT NONE WILL CONFESS
THE RECORDS OF THE INSANE ASYLUMS,
And the melancholy deaths by Consumption bear ample witness to the truth of the assertion that THE CONSTITUTION,
once affected by Organic Weakness,
Requires the Aid of Medicine,
to strengthen and invigorate the system, which
HELMBOLD'S EXTRACT BUCHU
invariably does.
A Trial will Convince the most Skeptical.

THOUSANDS UPON THOUSANDS
Who have been the victims of Quacks
